TO THE 64TH GRADUATING CLASS:

I am happy to take this opportunity to address a few words to the young men who are completing their academic work here at the Academy this year. We have this year graduates in both the high school section and the junior college section of the school. I am, therefore, addressing this to both classes.

You young men will soon join the long line of graduates who have gone before you here at the Academy. From now you will be known as "Allen" men. I expect each of you to conduct himself in such a manner that you will always be a credit to the school. Allen men have for 64 years enjoyed a fine reputation as clean, honest, upright citizens. I sincerely hope that we have prepared each of you to take your place among men and continue to keep this reputation untarnished.

We have prepared you for valuable service to your country if and when you should be called. I sincerely trust that it will never be necessary for you to have to defend your country on the battlefield, but I believe that if that time should come, you will be better prepared because of your days here at the Academy.

You will look back on the friendships and contacts which you have made during your stay here at the Academy with many happy memories. You have made many life-long friends and have begun to establish your reputation among the young men of Texas and the United States. I urge each of you to take the experience which you have gained here and use it wisely in determining the proper course for your future.

May you enjoy good fortune and happiness wherever you may go from here.

N. B. ALLEN, Jr.
Superintendent

TO THE 1948-1949 CADET CORPS

In September you arrived at the Academy to begin another school year. For the new boys you were entering a new school. For the many old boys who were returning you were taking up where you left off in June. Many things have taken place since the beginning of the school term. You have studied together, played together, worked together, and worshipped together. Out of this association has come a single unit known as the Allen Military Academy Cadet Corps of 1948-1949.

You will take with you at the close of this year the many lessons we have attempted to teach, in academics, in military, and in character. The Academy, which is rich in tradition and achievement, has placed its stamp of approval on you. It is my sincere hope you will become a credit to yourself, your faculty, and your school.

YOUR BANK

We would have you feel that THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK is your bank. We would have you feel at home in our bank. Whatever your problem or need, you are invited to call and discuss it with us any time with the assurance you will be treated with every courtesy and consideration at your bank.

We would have you feel that above every thing else in this institution there is a real desire to serve you well. We value, appreciate and shall ever strive to deserve and maintain your friendship, good will and business. It shall be our purpose to serve you so acceptably that when opportunity presents itself, you will as many customers do, bring or send your friends to your bank.

Stockholders provided the capital. Officials provide the management. In the final analysis, customers make the bank. We are grateful for and proud of the loyalty of the customers of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK during the past seventy-five years of its history. We want you to feel that you have a real part in this, your bank.

If you are not a customer, we extend to you a cordial invitation to become one on the basis expressed above so that you may also feel that this is your bank.
